PENNSYLVANIA INTELLIGENCE BULLETIN NO. 116

26 JULY 2010

The Pennsylvania Office of Homeland Security produces this informational/intelligence bulletin specifically for all potentially-affected stakeholders – whether public or private sector, federal or Commonwealth - of Pennsylvania-based Critical Infrastructures, Key Resources and Significant Special Events. Consider the information contained herein in context with other known information, indicators, threats and warnings.

Actionable Date Reminders

- Current-31 August 2010: In the general escalation in Irish republican terrorism, Marching Season in Northern Ireland is a period of several serious potential flashpoints for violence, with the most significant risk surrounding the 12 July march. Heightened situational awareness is called for among students and faculty with overseas programs in Northern Ireland (e.g., Millersville University and the Pennsylvania College of Technology).

- 29 July 2010: Arizona's immigration law SB 1070 to be enacted. Anarchists' and immigrants' rights activists are prepared to "escalate resistance" nationwide.

- 29 July 2010: A public meeting dealing with oil and gas wells (including Marcellus Shale wells) in Pennsylvania is to be held at the Rachel Carson State Office Building, 400 Market St., in Harrisburg. Although there are no current indications, threats and/or warnings of planned, unruly or violent behavior, the recent public outcry for better safety and control measures for natural gas drilling has precipitated a general heightened awareness. Law enforcement agencies associated with supporting Harrisburg events/infrastructure are advised to prepare contingency plans in the event that the meeting or confrontations outside the meeting significantly escalate.

- 29 July 2010: The Committee to Defend Civil Rights in Lancaster, a coalition of civil action groups, is planning a rally and march to oppose "the elimination of the County's Human Relations Commission." Protesters will gather in Binns Park, Lancaster County, and march "to the public hearing on the elimination of Lancaster County's Human Relations Commission." There is no indication of planned or expected unruly or illegal behavior.

- 30 July-31 August 2010: The anarchist organization CRIMETHINC. is planning "a decentralized convergence" in the form of a rolling event entitled, the Conspiracy Tour.[1] The Tour will reach several US states, from 25 July through 25 August 2010. Tentative Conspiracy Tour dates and locations in Pennsylvania include:

  30-31 July 2010, Pittsburgh
  3 August 2010, Philadelphia

- 31 July 2010: The radical, international, anti-fascist organization, ANTIFA[2] and the ANTI-RACIST ACTION (ARA)[3] network issued a nationwide "call to action" for this date. Multiple venues and any type of action are encouraged. Broad situational awareness is suggested regarding any upcoming demonstrations by groups deemed "fascist" (e.g., Tea Party, militia, Christian conservative, etc.), "racist" (e.g., Ku Klux Klan, White Power, Skinhead, etc.) or "anti-choice" (e.g., any Christian pro-life groups) by supporters of the ARA or Antifa.

- 31 July 2010: A Tea Party rally, entitled UNI-TEA, is scheduled to take place at Independence Mall in Philadelphia. Although there are no current indications, threats and/or warnings of unruly or violent behavior regarding this event, the likelihood is real for confrontations between Tea Party movement members and their opponents.

- 6-9 August 2010: An Anarchy Summer Camp in northern Virginia (the precise location kept confidential at the present time) "will help you prepare for the upcoming International Monetary Fund [IMF] demonstrations this fall ... [and] will prepare participants for the demonstrations through workshops ... as well as real life exercises, such as tactical simulations." The IMF representatives are scheduled to meet in the US capital 9-11 October 2010.
  Analyst's Note: Skills and lessons learned can be expected to be applied in anarchist actions throughout the northeast region in the following months, including in Pennsylvania.

- 6-9 August 2010: The Brandywine Peace Community is planning to hold two protests marking the World War II atomic bomb attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan, in 1945.

  On 6 August 2010 activists will gather outside the offices of defense contractor Lockheed Martin in Valley Forge for "civil disobedience and ... arrest...."

[2] http://antifa.fr/worldwide/
[3] http://antiracist.org/

On 9 August 2010, the activists will gather at Philadelphia's City Hall and march to SS Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Cathedral.

- 7 August 2010: Rally for the MOVE 9 at 11th and Market St. in Philadelphia (Additional details follow.).[4]

- 9-12 August 2010: Coal-Gen 20-Ten, the coal "industry's most dynamic event," is to be held at the David L. Lawrence Convention Center in Pittsburgh.[5]

- 14 August 2010: Radical White supremacists are promoting an event entitled, the Euro-American Heritage Fest 2010 (AKA European American Heritage Celebration). It is slated to take place on "in the Wilkes-Barre / Scranton area," most likely in the Public Square in Wilkes-Barre or Moosic.

Strategic Analysis: Special Edition

American Militia-Mexican Drug Cartels on Verge of Shooting War?

Narco-terrorist gangs in Mexico have been escalating their public proclamations and threats against American law enforcement and civilians in recent weeks. In response, communications among American militia members have also seen an escalation in rhetoric. In addition, in at least one case an armed patrol led by neo-Nazi leaders entered into an area reportedly used as a transit point for drug and people smugglers from Mexico.

- Last month, a Mexican drug cartel explicitly threatened American police officers in Nogales, Arizona, with sniper attacks if they interfere in the bustling cross-border drug trade. The police department has reportedly taken to warning its officers to remain armed, to have radios with them and to keep body armor accessible at all times. It is apparently the first such threat from across the border in the heating up drug and illegal migrant smuggling war.

- In the wake of the 16 July 2010 car bombing targeting Mexican police and first responders in Ciudad Juárez, Spanish graffiti taunts of additional car bombs aimed at the FBI and DEA have been spotted in the same area (PIB Nos. 113 and 114).

- Significantly, shots were fired into the El Paso, Texas, City Hall on 29 June 2010, apparently from Ciudad Juárez, Mexico. Whether or not the shots were fired intentionally, the incident points out vulnerability in the event of an actual armed confrontation, as well as the disregard Mexican narco-terrorists have for American sovereignty and authority.

[5] http://www.coal-gen.com/index.html

- A narco-terrorist from LOS ZETAS issued threats against armed, American civilians in a media interview. "I now believe my men were shot by crazed American vigilante cowards, who ambushed my solders at night, shot them from a great distance using high powered American rifles. Than our load of drugs were stolen," the Zeta gunman said of the recent shooting deaths of two members of his gang. He claimed that such attacks were not unusual, adding that Zetas "have been instructed to shoot and kill any Americans who are seen armed and roaming the deserts."[6]

- The Pima County Arizona Citizens Militia (ACM) claimed that a 13 July 2010 encounter with "six enemy, in uniform, carrying AK and SKS rifles," led to ACM forces engaging the gunmen "as they tried to cross the international fence ..." The ACM reported: "two enemy KIA confirmed, unknown number of enemy WIA, no friendly casualties ..."

An ACM spokesman responded to the Los Zetas officer's statement as follows:

"God may show them Mercy. We will not. These Zetas are not Soldiers, not Partisans, and not Militia. Under the Law of Land Warfare and the Geneva and Hague Conventions, they are Brigands, Terrorists, and Marauders, no different from Pirates. They are going to be dealt with as such. When our forces engage these war criminals, we will show them no Mercy, we will neither ask for nor offer them any Quarter, and we will take no Prisoners. We are going to hunt the Zetas and destroy them like the vermin that they are. This won't be just War, this will be Extermination."

He added, "The ACM County Units, supported by Militia groups from outside of Arizona, will conduct Operation Defiant Sentinel this Fall. Our Mission will be to Search and Destroy the Zetas and other armed, uniformed foreign military forces, and drive them out of Arizona."

One response to the above exchange on a central militia forum was quite skeptical: "Pardon me if I ask to many questions, I saw this type of bragging and BS when I was in VietNam from people who never fired their weapons, I didn't like it then and I wouldn't like it now! So until I see some proof that everything reported took place where and when it is claimed I will continue to wonder."

Other responses, however, expressed admiration for the ACM and a desire to assist them in some way.

Meanwhile, Pinal County Sheriff Paul Babeu believes that a rival drug cartel was behind the aforementioned shooting deaths, rather than any militia. However, Sheriff Babeu has said that there is a likelihood of a shooting war erupting between American armed militias and narco-terrorists if such vigilante patrols continue.

[6] http://www.kold.com/Global/story.asp?S=3394374

- In a separate "operation," an armed and equipped group led by several neo-Nazi leaders has claimed to have "rescued" four illegal aliens in a desert area used as a transit for smugglers and uncovered a dead body of another would-be illegal immigrant. The group's leader, JT Ready, said that he would be leading more operations in the region throughout the summer.

Analyst's Note: Mexico-based narco-gangs are intent on sending powerful messages to centralized authority in the United States and Mexico, as well as to vigilantes on the American border. At the same time, American militia movements, neo-Nazi groups and concerned border-area residents are also increasing their activism along the US/Mexico border armed with licensed firearms.

While some volunteer border patrol groups, such as the Minutemen, do not attempt to do more than report what they observe to law enforcement, it is far from certain that narco-terrorist cells seeking to create a balance of terror with the militia groups will make so fine a distinction before opening fire. Hence, this escalation has a great potential of triggering an authentic shooting war between armed American civilians and narco-terrorists. Such a situation would precipitate deeper law enforcement intervention, potential further escalation and a greater export of Mexican narco-terrorism into the border states of the US.

There are possible indicators that US Customs and Border Patrol (CBP) officers, militia members or law enforcement officers may be at risk of cross-border kidnapping by jihadist- or ex-military-trained narco-terrorist cells. The abducted Americans may serve as bargaining chips, or be tortured and beheaded as tool of intimidation in line with the behavior of the Mexican narco-gangs domestically.

As of this time, the potential armed confrontation with Mexican narco-terrorists is limited to the bi-national border area states. However, any tactics and strategies deemed successful by narco-gangs are likely to migrate northward with violent American gangs.

Regarding the actions of the American militias, recent communications from extremist militia forums indicate a growing restlessness and self-reinforcing feeling of impending confrontation with the federal government. Comments such as "to arms," "it is time now" and "just say the word" are appearing in communications from some rank-and-file militia members, although most of the leadership of such organizations is publicly avoiding that rhetoric at the present time.

The claimed "action" seen by Arizona and other regional militias along the Mexico border is feeding into this growing frustration as well, as it points to what appears to be a need for militarized initiatives without regard for government authority. The expression this frustration takes among Pennsylvania militias remains to be seen. Analysts and researchers will continue to monitor Pennsylvania-based militia and related communications regarding developments along America's southern border.

Sector-Specific Threats, Indicators and/or Warnings

Sectors: Chemical, Commercial Facilities, Emergency Services, Government Facilities, National Monuments and Icons, and Transportation Systems

1. Specific Targeting of US Assets at Home and Abroad

Three distinct, but complementary, jihadist communications intercepted point to specific targeting of American interests at home and abroad.

- 'American Blood Streaming in the Streets'

Declaring, "We will destroy the USA soon," a communication from 25 July 2010 and addressed to "slaves of the cross" says that the "leaders who cooperate with you and whom you support" are "weaker than a small spider."

The jihadist issuing the communication warns: "You will see American blood streaming in the streets of one of those countries very soon." Later, he adds, "in the coming days." The writer continues by identifying American embassies, with addresses, in "those countries," as he defines them, in Syria, Saudi Arabia, Algeria and Morocco.

- ' Jihadist in 'Rural America'

On the same day, a jihadist who claims to be in "a rural area of the USA" praised the Times Square bomber Faisal Shahzad and says that "under appropriate conditions ... the blessing is coming ..." He seems to imply that he has been personally experimenting with chlorine gas in order to ultimately perpetrate a terrorist attack.

The chlorine gas, he writes, "failed to explode four times out of six, but with the help of Allah this situation will improve." If he is successful, he insists, "it will be a big blow, so wait patiently, although it is much harder than expected." Moreover, he explains, his location makes him "afraid that the intelligence apparatus" will stop him and "will make it difficult" for him to carry out his plans.

- New English-Language Jihadist Magazine

A fresh jihadist communication indicates that a new bi-monthly English-language publication is due to be released soon. The magazine is "on the art of warfare and the art of improvised weapons for the use in jihad in the battlefield and in the homeland of the kuffar [infidels - ed.]." Analysts have tentatively identified the source of the publication as Iraqi. If successfully released, this publication would join AL-QAEDA IN THE ARABIAN PENINSULA's Inspire magazine as an indication of novel efforts to recruit English-speaking Muslims to the global jihad.

 ANALYSIS  T/I/W Rating: MODERATE

The latest communications closely follow other threats against America and American assets, confirming and reinforcing increasing jihadist communications focusing on the American homeland.

Analyst's Note: Jihadist calls issued in such focused communications almost always encourage or outright demand lone-wolf or small cell acts of jihad by American residents.

As mentioned in several previous PIB, maritime ports and airports, rail and light rail, as well as large public venues in Pennsylvania remain desirable targets for jihadist attacks along the lines detailed in recent adversarial communications. Also at heightened risk, based on earlier jihadist communications, are law enforcement facilities and personnel. In addition, the communication from "rural America" and other recent communications have discussed the use of accessible chemical agents for explosives. Terrorists will increasingly seek out alternative ways of attaining volatile chemicals and industrial explosives, including attempts to steal or hijack the desired ingredients while in transit.

Regarding threats to the Pennsylvania transportation systems, increasing international traffic at Philadelphia International Airport, along with its central location, significantly maintains its position as a high-profile target for jihadist agents seeking to strike in American airspace. As the second-most traveled airport in Pennsylvania, and as a US military transit point with facilities for military personnel and their families, Pittsburgh International Airport also presents a high-profile target.

The continuing jihadist search for methods to foil technology-based, security measures should focus attention on the need to heighten awareness of behavioral and situational clues indicating hostile intent. Personnel responsible for mass transportation or other public venues should note the possibility of explosive devices concealed as otherwise innocuous items (e.g., cardboard boxes posted for delivery, sports paraphernalia, prosthetic limbs, etc.).

Sector: Commercial Facilities

2. Rally for the 'MOVE 9'

Members and supporters of the radical Black nationalist MOVE organization are planning to hold a rally at 11th and Market St. in Philadelphia on 7 August 2010.

The rally is called to show support for nine imprisoned members of the group who went to jail in the wake of the massive armed confrontation that took place in

Philadelphia 32 years ago. "Our main activity is to pressure the parole board about their release," the MOVE communication declares, "but we won't let August 8th go by without reminding people what that day represents."

Organizers have indicated that their only intention is to distribute information and "to talk to people about The MOVE 9."

 ANALYSIS  T/I/W Rating: LOW-to-MODERATE

Currently, analysts do not foresee a likelihood of disorder or violence in the above-mentioned MOVE event; however, no information regarding necessary police permits is available. Analysts have noted an increase this year in activity by supporters of the MOVE movement and its conflict with law enforcement (PIB No. 79). MOVE has been essentially "adopted" by extremist left-wing anarchists worldwide as one of their anti-state causes.

Supporters of the MOVE 9 may come to reject peaceful means, which they will see as having failed them thus far. In light of the foregoing, there is a small possibility of more radical actions by individual supporters of MOVE.

Sector: Government Facilities

3. Jihad by SMS

A new English-language communication shared among Arabic-speaking jihadists includes a brief three word message under the heading, "SMS to Swedish & Norwegian governments."

The actual text of the message is printed in bright colors and laid out as follows:

"You

"Are

"Next …"

Researchers note that the follow-up responses to the above "SMS" message ask how, when and why the named states would be targeted. One reply says simply, "Noooooooo!!!!!!!!" However, another says (original spelling preserved), "Destroyed them. Does not take you in they mercy. Allah is the gratest."

 ANALYSIS  T/I/W Rating: MODERATE

The individual behind the initial communication presenting the SMS text is known to analysts as an apparently active jihadist. Both Norway and Sweden have appeared in targeting information provided through past jihadist communications.

The above SMS text alone does not indicate an increased risk of attack; however, analysts believe that Swedish and Norwegian interests and assets are currently facing pre-existing, jihadist, attack risk indicators. Within Pennsylvania, this includes the Royal Norwegian Consulate in Philadelphia (1760 Market St.).

Students, researchers and faculty associated with overseas programs in Norway and Sweden (e.g., Clarion University of Pennsylvania, East Stroudsburg, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Mansfield University and Westminster College should be advised of the existing risk indicators.

Sectors: Commercial Facilities, Government Facilities and Transportation Systems

4. Anti-Israel Violence at Sporting Event in Turkey
Dozens of protesters clashed with Turkish police in Ankara on Saturday near a sports hall hosting a women's volleyball game between Israel and Serbia.

While Turkish police managed to maintain order and prevent a breach of security during the game, they were forced to preemptively close the event to the public due to security concerns. Among the measures deployed to protect the Israeli players and the hall were roadblocks, Israeli security personnel assigned to the Israeli players, and a bus with tinted windows to transport the Israeli team to the indoor hall.

In the confrontation outside the sports hall, protesters hurled water bottles and hit the shields of police officers with their Palestinian Authority flag poles.

The protesters reportedly also demonstrated sophisticated tactics such as showing up one at a time in order to thwart attempts to prevent the gathering. They were similarly advised in an email by organizers to conceal Palestinian Authority flags and banners until their arrival, and to shout slogans only when they arrived at the hall. However, police intelligence successfully intercepted the communications and managed to prepare effectively. According to the Associated Press, one anti-Israel protest message named the hotel hosting the Israeli athletes.

 ANALYSIS  T/I/W Rating: MODERATE

The events in Turkey underscore the security issues surrounding Israeli assets, delegations and representatives globally, including those Pennsylvania. Such assets include high-profile Jewish institutions, synagogues or communal events. The primary and repeat target of such actions in Pennsylvania is the Israeli consulate in Philadelphia.

In addition, recent global anti-Israel activity has included the attempted disruption of Israeli shipping and air travel at foreign (non-Israeli) ports of arrival (PIB Nos. 101 and 112). Such tactics may be emulated in other port cities and at international airports in Pennsylvania. This includes the Port of Philadelphia and the Port of Chester, which both receive Israeli imports. Regarding potential airport locations for anti-Israel actions, researchers note that there are direct Israel-Philadelphia flights by US Airways. El Al Airlines, the national Israeli carrier, has passenger flights to Pittsburgh International Airport by way of New York, and flies directly to the Newark Liberty International Airport (popular with travelers from the Philadelphia area, as well).

Sectors: Banking and Finance; Commercial Facilities; Energy; Government Facilities and Nuclear Reactors, Materials, and Waste

5. 'Direct Action Without Compromise' and 'Nonviolent Direct Action'
Two environmentalist training events in coming weeks indicate an ongoing emphasis among activists on "direct action" as what they believe is an effective strategy.

- EARTH FIRST! - UK

The militant environmentalist organization EARTH FIRST! has announced a 4-9 August 2010 "Summer Gathering" under the heading, "Ecological Direct Action without Compromise," to be held in Derbyshire, in the United Kingdom.[7]

The gathering is being promoted as "5 days of workshops, skill sharing and planning action, plus low-impact living without leaders. Meet and share skills with others who care. Plan actions and campaigns." Sessions are to include identifying future targets for environmentalist "direct action."

Earth First! communications promise participants that they will "learn skills for kick-ass actions on land and water: Small boat handling and blockading using kayaks / Blockading - tripods, lock-ons / Fences / Climbing skills / Action reconnaissance / Security for Activists / Strategy and tactics / How to research corporations / Protest camps."

Earth First! specifies: "The programme also includes ... Water based direct action skills training. Loads of campaigns are taking to the water in defence of the planet, like at Rossport where Shell are trying to lay onshore pipelines and the Great Rebel Raft Regatta at last summers climate camp. This summers EF! gathering will again be building on these tactics with training in water based actions."

The communication also identifies "current campaigns against ecological destruction" that will be discussed at the gathering, including: "Open-cast mining / Genetic engineering / Agrofuels / Saving Iceland / Climate actions / Pipeline resistance in Rossport / Anti-nuclear / Airport expansion/ Tar Sands."

[7] http://www.earthfirst.org/

- PEACEFUL UPRISING - USA

The Peaceful Uprising organization is planning a one-day "Nonviolent Direct Action Training" for 31 July 2010 at the First Unitarian Church in Salt Lake City, Utah.[8]

According to the group's announcement of the event, "Civil disobedience empowers ordinary people to effectively stand up to the fossil fuel, political and corporate interests that dominate our country. ...This workshop is designed to increase your comfort level with nonviolent direct action, help you learn basic skills and find out about the many roles needed to support effective action."

Peaceful Uprising was formed to "train, support and defend those who engage in nonviolent direct action to protect our future from climate change."

 ANALYSIS  T/I/W Rating: MODERATE

Analyst's Note: The skills and knowledge shared at the above events will most likely be manifested at subsequent environmental protest events or in direct action vandalism by eco-terror elements. While the primary impact of the Earth First! gathering will likely be in Europe, the incorporation of North American campaigns in the list of topics is a confirmation and reinforcement of the globalization of "green activism." Similarly, some elements of the Peaceful Uprising training are likely to find their way into environmental activism outside Utah.

As noted in PAIB No. 68 and thereafter, the Earth First! Movement in general has taken a turn to advocating more aggressive civil disobedience and sabotage. As stated in a recent Earth First! journal, "Our greatest strategic assessment should be whether our actions are effecting the financial bottom-line of the destroyers of Earth." The writer declared, "So lets [sic] live wild and be fierce as fuck. Ante Up!"

Potential targets of eco-activist direct action in Pennsylvania identified in environmentalist and anarchist communications and cited in recent PIB editions include the following:

- Recent Earth First! networking communications have focused on the Marcellus Shale gas industry as a high priority target in the New York-Pennsylvania region (PIB No. 104), as has the NORTHEAST ANARCHIST NETWORK (NEAN). As far back as December 2009 (PAIB No. 2), sophisticated variations of "direct action" tactics were taught at Ruckus Society training in New York aimed at preparing for "direct action" against drilling in Pennsylvania's Marcellus Shale area.

- Ecological militants of the RAINFOREST ACTION NETWORK declared their intention to "keep the pressure on" the Royal Bank of Canada over its financing of the Alberta tar sands project (PIB No. 55).

[8] http://www.peacefuluprising.org/

In this context, ITRR analysts identified several specific banks funding the Alberta tar sands project that may become targets for eco-activist "direct action," or worse, in Pennsylvania, including branches of financial institutions such as TD Bank, JP Morgan Chase, Citi Bank, Bank of America and Wells Fargo.

- Anti-coal mining and anti-mountaintop removal militant have been very active and prolific in recent months.

Branches of financial institutions such as JP Morgan Chase, Citi Bank, Goldman Sachs and Bank of America are potential targets of anti-coal mining activist protests, campaigning or more radical "direct action" activities. Other companies previously identified as targets of ecological activists were the coal companies directly involved in MTR coal operations, power companies that burn this coal and the offices of Duke Energy.

- In Pennsylvania, nuclear facilities may be targeted for protests or other direct actions. Additionally, environmental activists have repeatedly cited Pennsylvania as a leader in nuclear waste production (although the state does not have a disposal site), and nuclear waste through shipments.

The previous call for heightened security in proximity to all of the above named institutions will remain for the foreseeable future.
