

TSA REMINDS YOU TO...

Transportation Security Administration

Be Vigilant

(U) Flood Water Sensors That Resemble IEDs

(U) Did you know?

(U//FOUO) According to the U.S. Geological Survey, there is the possibility that flood water sensors could be mistaken for IEDs. These sensors have been placed to track flood waters from storms and may be attached to trees, bridge supports, telephone poles, and piers readily identified as infrastructure.

Prepared by TSA-Office of Intelligence

(U) Warning: This document is UNCLASSIFIED//FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY (U//FOUO). It contains information that may be exempt from public release under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552). It is to be controlled, stored, handled, transmitted, distributed, and disposed of in accordance with DHS policy relating to FOUO information and is not to be released to the public, the media, or other personnel who do not have a valid "need-to-know" without prior approval of an authorized DHS official. State and local Homeland security officials may share this document with authorized security personnel without further approval from DHS. This product is produced for TSA Surface Inspectors and stakeholders for their situational awareness.